Routine Notes. 2014

[To be used only for notes, requisitions, etc., not intended for permanent record.]

The Library books of the Office are now being kept in four almirahs. They are found inadequate for the purpose because, for want of room, books are huddled together. More books are being added to the Library from time to time. Four additional glass-almirahs are very necessary. It is also necessary to do in for four steel racks of the type supplied to the Records, for the purpose of keeping the papers of this Office. Therefore four glass-almirahs and four steel racks may kindly be got purchased, the approximate cost of Rs 1000/- thereof being met out of the anticipated surplus under the head "Lumpsum for extra expenditure on account of the new Constitutional Reform

It is submitted that an order was placed with the firm so long back as ⊗ 8th May 1941 for the supply of Six Almirahs for the use of this office by the O.B and the firm after having supplied two almirahs by about the 19th June 1941, kept silent inspite of a number of reminders. Immediately on the receipt of all the almirahs necessary action has been taken to pass the bills after scrutinising the furniture
